

Youth Entrepreneurial Skilling in White Meat Value Chain, Moroto

Project Background

In partnership with Gudie Leisure Farm (GLF) and Moroto District Local Government, AFLI trained 108 youths in the white meat value chain, equipping them with skills as producers, feeders, health promoters, marketeers, and transporters. The project established a Farmers' Service Center (FSC) as a hub for continuous accessing of inputs, skilling, and marketing of Youths products.

Goal

The goal has been to enhance youth skilling for job and wealth creation in the white meat value chain and horticulture through mentorship and integration into the cash economy.

Results and Achievements

1. Youth Empowerment: The project empowered youth as agripreneurs, promoting sustainable livelihoods through practical skills in agribusiness.
2. Improved Livelihoods: The FSC provided essential inputs and facilitated the growth of Youth Agripreneur Champions and Apprentices in Moroto, promoting active participation in value chains offering sustainable income opportunities.
